GENEALOGICAL RECORD

OF THE FAMILY OF

Kölliker of Herrliburg, District Meilen, Canton Zurich, Switzerland, COMPLETED IN SUMMER OF 1849,

BY

REV. JOHN JACOB HESS,
Evangelical Reformed Pastor of Herrliberg.

TO THE ABOVE NOW, (1883.) ADDED A RECORD OF THE FAMILY OF

KELKER,

SINCE THEIR ARRIVAL IN THIS COUNTRY, IN 1743, COMPILED FROM AUTHENTIC SOURCES, FOR THE USE OF THE MEMBERS OF THE FAMILY,

BY

RUDOLPH F. KELKER,

HARRISBURG:
LANE S. HART, PRINTER AND BINDER.

Correspondence between Rudolph F. Kelker and Hon. George H. Goundie, United States Consul at Basle, Switzerland, through whose agency the Swiss record of the Kolliker (Kelker) Family was obtained.*

HARRISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA, U. S.,
December 9, 1848.

RESPECTED SIR: Through the Hon. John C. Bucher, a neighbor of mine, I have learned that you were so kind as to have some genealogical researches made for him at Schaffhausen. Having a great desire to have something of my own ancestry, I have been, through his suggestions, led to presume upon your kindness, so far as to take the liberty to request, most respectfully, that you would notice the inclosed copies of some of our family papers, and forward them to Zurich to have researches made as far back as the Church or government registers there, may contain the name of "Köllicker." Paper No. 1 is (I take it) a baptism certificate of my grandfather, Antony Köllicker, who was born December 30, 1733, and baptised January 1, 1734, at the Minster church. All the words that I could clearly make out I have written in the Roman letter, but that which appears to be the signature I was not certain of, and have endeavored to follow the German text.

Paper No. 2 is the pastor's certificate to my great-grandfather, Henry Köllicker, and wife, dated Heumonath, 8th day, 1743.

Paper No. 3 is their certificate from Zurich city authorities. In No. 2, his wife is called Barbara Braetscheri, and in No. 3, Regula. This can, perhaps, make no difference, as the record would show. They seem to have come from a small town called Herliberg, on Zurich lake. You would know best whether the records would be there, or at Zurich. I should think that the Zurich Church (Minster Church) would show. They belonged to the German Reformed Church. I should like that a full and correct list, or genealogical table should, be got if possible, running as far back as the records have been kept, and also down to the present time. It might be, perhaps, well to state, that from a letter received in 1769 by our family, it appears that the aforesaid Henry Köllicker, my great-grandfather, had brothers and sisters, viz: John, Jacob, and Solomon, Magdalena, Veronica, Cleofna, Barbara, Anna, Susanna, and Froena, and their father is stated to have died in 1753, and his effects sold in 1757.

* NOTE—Hon. George H. Goundie was, previous to his appointment as U. S. Consul, a citizen of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. After his return from Switzerland, he represented his district in the Pennsylvania Legislature.

Your kind attention to my desire shall not only be received as a mark of special favor, but all expenses and fees for obtaining the information sought will be remitted to your order, or paid you on your return to this country.

I have long since desired a family history of our ancestry, and I trust that you will pardon my presumption in asking your aid.

With sentiments of much esteem,

I have the honor to be

Your obedient servant,

RUDOLPH F. KELKER.

To the Hon. G. H. GOUNDIE,

U. S. Consul at Basil, Switzerland.

N. B. Our family name, by some means or other, has been changed to Kelker. I think during the period of the American Revolution it became abbreviated. Judge Bucher, who has kindly written a few lines inclosed, has given you only my middle name, Frederick. He should have said Rudolph F. Kelker, instead of Frederick Kelker.

(Here followed copies of the certificates above alluded to, and which will be found on page 85.)

RESPECTED SIR: Having as yet received no reply to my letter of the 9th of December, 1848, it has struck me that you must probably have written, and your favor miscarried. Not long after the date of my letter, our mutual friend, the Hon. John C. Bucher, informed me that you had arrived in this country, but would sail in a few days; that your family had received my letter, and that in a letter addressed to him on some other business you had also mentioned that you would attend to my desires on your arrival out, and that you wished to know whether the expenses of the search, &c., would be paid. I handed the Judge ten dollars, with the request that he would be so kind as to inclose it to you when he should answer your letter, and that he should say that I would pay whatever expenses might be incurred in your having records examined. As the steam packet "Cambria" sails from New York to-morrow, I thought I would embrace the opportunity to forward a few lines, most respectfully soliciting of you the favor of a reply as soon as your convenience will allow.

I am, sir,

With sentiments of much regard,

Your obedient servant,

RUDOLPH F. KELKER.

To the Hon. G. H. GOUNDIE,

U. S. Consul at Basil, Switzerland.

BASIL, IN SWITZERLAND, July 24, 1849.

TO RUDOLPH F. KELKER, Esq.,

MY DEAR SIR: Your letter dated June 26 has been duly received. Before my departure from the United States, our mutual friend, J. C. Bucher, Esq., forwarded to me a letter containing your wishes as well as ten dollars to pay expenses. Immediately after my arrival here I set to work in order to obtain the desired information; I had to employ an agent, and as the family of Keliker is large and the agent anxious to obtain a full and complete statement, search has to be made in a great number of church registers, going back several hundred years. The person who has charge of it informs me that he will have it completed by the beginning of August. You can rely upon it that it will be perfectly satisfactory to you, and that no expenses and no pains have been spared in obtaining it. It will be as complete a register as ever left the country. The family Keliker, in Switzerland, and particularly in the canton of Zurich, is one of the most respectable in the country. It is my intention of returning to the United States by the end of September, when I shall bring the papers with me and forward them to you from Bethlehem.

With the highest regard,

Yours very respectfully,

G. H. GOUNDIE.

N. B. Give my compliments to the Judge.

BETHLEHEM, PA., October 27, 1849.

TO RUDOLPH F. KELKER, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I returned from Switzerland about two weeks since, and brought your papers along. I was waiting for a private opportunity, but finding none, I am obliged to send them by mail. Inclosed you will also find a letter from the Rev. Mr. Hess, of Herrliberg, who attended to the matter. He had a great deal of trouble, having to visit some twenty different churches in the canton of Zurich, in order to obtain the whole, and without any intermission. He was not willing to say what it was worth, and leaves it to you. Knowing how much time and labor it cost him, I trust you will reward him liberally, as it must be considered as a favor that he undertook the matter. It is very complete, and it must prove a great satisfaction to you and your family. Whatever amount you think it is worth you can forward to me, and I will transmit it without delay to him. He undertook it at the request of Professor Reithard, of Zurich, a friend of mine.

With the highest consideration, your friend,

G. H. GOUNDIE.

P. S. If you cannot read German, get somebody to translate Rev. Hess' letter to me, which is herewith inclosed.

Letter of Rev. J. J. Hess to the United States Consul.

Mr. GOUNDIE, United States Consul in Basel :

HIGHLY HONORED SIR : In compliance with the request of Prof. Reithard, of Zurich, with whom you are personally acquainted, I herewith send you the genealogical record of the family K lliker, residing in this country, which you wished to obtain for your friend, Mr. R. F. Kelker, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. I hoped this would reach you before your departure from Basel, but I did not learn till quite lately that you would leave the latter place on the 2d of September, though Mr. Reithard had designated the middle of September as the probable time of your departure.

I originally intended to add to this record an index and to have it bound, but your sudden departure compelled me to relinquish this design. I have, however, spared no pains to execute my task as accurately and completely as lay in my power. As regards that part of the record which relates to the time anterior to the middle of the last century, I found my task so laborious and requiring so much time, that I should hardly have accomplished it had I not promised Mr. Reithard to do so. As to my fixing a remuneration, and, according to Mr. Reithard's wish, to inclose a note, I must decline. Mr. Kelker, at whose remembering his home and the home of his forefathers I rejoice, and to whom I request you to tender my kindest regards, must first look at this little work and then decide what it is worth. I am willing to wait for remuneration, as I have not undertaken this task for pecuniary profit.

As to some extent I am conversant with the English language, I originally intended to furnish the genealogical record in English so as to enable Mr. Kelker to understand it better. However, I thought afterwards that by my doing so it might lose the character of a true (unmittelbar) and direct original document and have too foreign an imprint. I have, therefore, confined myself to occasional remarks in English and chosen Latin characters instead of German.

I should be pleased to obtain from Mr. Kelker some information as to the experience and numbers of his family since they reside in the United States. I should, however, not expect him to make or cause to be made a genealogical record, as none of the members of his family residing here have ever expressed a desire to possess such a record. To know, however, something more than we have learned thus far, would be desirable.

Hoping that you may have a safe voyage and find Mr. Kelker in good health, I remain, yours,

With the highest esteem,

J. J. HESS,
Pastor.

HERRLIBERG ON ZURICH-LAKE,

August 31, 1849, early in the morning.

EXPLANATION OF SWISS RECORD, AS GIVEN BY THE COMPILER, REV. J. J. HESS.

1. The family of Kölliker (in the popular dialect of that part of the country, more briefly pronounced Köllker, Kellker) originally came from Thalwyl, where some branches of the family are still flourishing, and whose residence there, dates back to very early times, for as early as the close of the sixteenth century several branches of this family enjoyed the rights of citizenship there. On the first page of the oldest official baptismal record which is still extant, namely: A. D. 1592, the name of a (Haus-Vater,) House Father, Diethelm Kölliker, is mentioned.

2. In the Church records of this place, especially the earlier ones, merely the date of baptism is mentioned, not the date of birth: in the later ones, both are recorded. Whenever, in the following record two numbers are mentioned, the first denotes the day of birth, the second that of baptism. The family, which in the year 1743, emigrated to North America, is recorded on page 28.

3. The death register of this community reaches back to the year 1767, those prior to that date having been lost. For this reason, the date of the decease of those members of the family who died before that year, could not be given. This defect could not be remedied.

4. On the map of the canton of Zürich, which accompanies this by way of explanation, the names of all places mentioned in this record are underlined with red ink. The map is very accurate and reliable.

5. Herrliberg lies at a distance of two hours from Zürich, in a very salubrious and beautiful situation. Its inhabitants, who number about eleven hundred, are principally engaged in the culture of the vine and in silk weaving, are on the whole in a prosperous condition, and are all members of the Evangelical Reformed Church. Two churches are established in the community, having only one pastor. It has two schools in new and cheerful buildings. All children, from six to sixteen years of age, are required by law to attend school.

NOTA.—Diese Angaben gründen sich auf die amtlichen Tauf, und Ehe-Register zu Thalwyl welche zu diesem Zwecke von mir eingesehen, und excerptirt worden sind. Est ist nicht irrkundlich gewiss, aber höchst wahrscheinlich dass obige beide Brüder, von diesen Eltern abstammen weil es damals mehrere Familien aus diesem Geschlecht daselbst gegeben hat. Dagegen kan alles Nachfolgende urkundlich nachgewiesen werden.

MEMORANDUM.

The following lines are a free translation of an Extract from a work in the possession of W. H. Egle, M. D., of Harrisburg, and lately received by him from the publishers, entitled "Neues historisches Wappen-Buch der Stadt Zurich; Nach dem besten Quellen Bearbeitet. Herausgegeben und lithographirt von Jean Egli, Farbendruck von C. Knusli. 1860. Im Selbstverlage des Herausgebers. Typendruck von F. Walder & Sohn."

Copied from the "Wappen Buch" above named by Rudolph F. Kelker, Harrisburg, Pa., January 22, 1897.

227. KÖLLIKER, A. & B. 228. KÖLLIKER, A.

A. In the year 1440, Heini Kölliker of Horgen, was presented with citizenship. In 1476, he, together with other members of the Guild of Weggen took part in the battle of Murten.

In 1563 Hans Kölliker of Thalweil renewed his citizenship.

In 1572 Lorenz Kölliker, the tanner of Thalweil, was made citizen. One of his descendants was made in the year 1667 one of the twelve directors of the Carpenter Guild, and in 1677 administrator of the Chapter.

In 1596 Ludwig Kölliker of Thalweil was made a citizen, and from him the present family has descended, most of whose members made a profession of navigation, and were masters of ships, as their armorial bearings also indicate.

Joos Kölliker of Horgen, surgeon (?) in the hospital, gained his citizenship in the year 1642.

B. Kölliker, also from Thalweil, received his citizenship in 1842. He is still a citizen of that place.

The Kölliker family residing now for many years on the left shore of the lake, claims to descend from the noble family of Kölliker (without doubt at one time the feudal Lords of the village Kollikon in Aargau) whom von ARX, in his history of the Bachgau, mentions while writing about the noble families of Oltes (?), and of whom a part is said to have emigrated to Basel, and another to the lake of Zürich.

KÖLLIKER. A family in the city of Zürich, a member of which, Heini by name, was present at the battle of Murten in 1476. Hans Rudolf was in 1667 member of the great council and in the year 1677 administrator of the Chapter zum "Grossen Münster," and died in 1686 in the 50th year of his age. Several of the family also received revenues from the district.

A family in the city of Aarau (canton Bern) where one of its members, named Isaac, was made mayor.

KOLLIKON.

A village, church, and judicial district in a fruitful valley, between Aarau and Zoffingen, in the bailiwick (Landvogtei) of Lenkberg, and in the precincts of the city of Bern. Formerly there also stood a castle at the place, and it was the ancestral home of the nobles of this name. One of whom, Rudolf by name, was counselor of Zoffingen in 1360.

Those of Büttiken, Hünwell, Falckenstein etc., had gradually received the jurisdiction of the place, as a fief, from the Chapter (Stift) of St. Gallen. In the year 1458, however, this Chapter sold its revenues, vassalage, property and fiefs, titles, etc., to the city of Bern. The church of the place was built in 1507; the pastor is elected by the council of Bern and belongs to the Chapter of Aarau. In the year 1541 a house with seven persons was burned.

TRANSLATION OF ABOVE LETTER FROM JOHN JACOB KÖLLICKER, OF HERRLIBERG, SWITZERLAND, TO HIS NEPHEW, ANTHONY KELKER, IN PENNSYLVANIA, DATED MARCH 23, 1769.

Honored, and from my heart, beloved Friend:

Your letter which you sent over to your grandfather, we, his hereaved children and grandmother, have received with delight, as we learn from it that such of you as are alive enjoy good health and spirits, for which the Lord be praised. We have learned from it, that your dear parents have been removed by death, which made us feel very sad. The dear Lord will comfort you: remember that it has pleased Him to raise them up through death to a better, yea, to an eternal life. We cannot but inform you as we have already done several times, that your grandfather was called from time into eternity already in 1753. We doubt not that you suppose our grandfather to left us something, but we inform you that in 1757, everything was sold, and nothing else was left to any of us but his good and honorable name. There are still, as long as it may please God, seven of us brothers and sisters living, viz: Jacob, Solomon, Magdalena, Barbara, Anna, Susanna, and Froena, all of whom are married except the youngest, Froena.

Your sainted father's sister Cleofea, of Zurich, is still living there, with three children, as long as it may please God, of which she will herself inform you in a few lines. You may be desirous to know how we are situated in relation to the war. We inform you that, the Lord be praised, lovely peace has continued among us thus far. The dear Lord will (we hope) continue to protect us from the evils, (of war.) But in other respects the times are hard, the price of food, and other necessities of life being very high.

We have learned that you suffered much from the war. Your letter informs us, however, that now everything is all right, and that you are again in comfortable circumstances. We pray God that He will still further bless you, and cause it to be well with you in body and soul. We see, also, that you still continue in your Religion and service of God, in which you were baptised and instructed by your parents, for which God be praised. We pray God to still further strengthen you that you may never forsake nor prove unstable in it.

While you live in such a far off land, doubtless surrounded by all manner of sects, we all, your nearest friends, one with another send you thousand, yea thousand times our greetings, and finally, commit you into the arms of the Supreme One, and pray God, from the bottom of our hearts, that he will give to you good health and abundant success in all things, for time and eternity.

I remain your true friend,

Translation of letter written on same sheet with the foregoing, by Chleophea Kölliker, of Zurich city, Switzerland, to her Nephew, Antony Kölliker, Pennsylvania :

I, Chleophea Kölliker your sainted father's sister, have learned from your letter that, thank God, you are enjoying good health, which has filled our hearts with joy. As regards myself and my children, we are all, thank God, in good health. Furthermore, I know nothing to write you except that I and my beloved children do a thousand, yea, thousand times greet you, and from our inmost souls beseech a gracious and merciful God that He may grant you all the good we are able to ask. And since we can never meet together in this world of trial, we wish from the bottom of our hearts that we may meet in a blessed eternity. I pray you also to take the trouble to greet a thousand, yea, a thousand times, especially my beloved sister Verrena, and I wish for her, and you also, all temporal and eternal happiness.

I remain until death, your true

Schwester und Bas,

NOTE.—It is supposed that the above described land is the same which was surveyed by two warrants, one to Peter Eberly, dated July 21, 1742, the other to Michael Meyer, dated March 6, 1744, per John Jones. See patent book H. No. 6, page 169, in the land office of Penna. The farm (1857) divided into two farms, the one occupied by Henry Lichty and the other by his son-in-law, Joseph Gingrich. The part occupied by Gingrich (1857) is where Henry Kelker lived. The house of Henry Kelker stood in the garden in front of the present house, just across the road. Mr. Lichty in 1857, then seventy-four years of age, told R. F. Kelker that he built the present house in 1808 out of the logs of the old house, which was built in 1745, (no doubt by Henry Kelker.) According to the tin weather-vane which was erected on the gable end of the house, and which Mr. Lichty remembers distinctly had the date 1745 cut in it. He says that in rebuilding the house he had to replace only the foundation logs of the old house, the others being in good condition. The farm is situated about four miles north of Lebanon, near the public road leading to Jonestown.

TOMBSTONES

Erected to the memory of Henry Kölliker (Kelker) and his wife Regula, by their great grandsons Rudolph F. Kelker, Immanuel M. Kelker, and Henry Anthony Kelker.

On the 26th day of October, 1867, R. F. Kelker shipped by Freight car No. 163 on the Philada & Reading Railroad from Harrisburg, Pa., where it had been prepared by Henry Brown, under his direction one large Headstone, made of the best quality Hummelstown red sandstone, measuring seven feet long twenty-six inches wide, and eight inches thick, together with a heavy footstone of proportionate size. These were conveyed to Annville, Lebanon Co., Pa., by the cars, and from thence, hauled by wagon to the grave yard of the Hill Church ("Berg Kirch") about two miles north-east of Annville, by John Heilman & Brothers and erected by them in the church yard. The headstone is inscribed as follows :

“In Memory of Henry Kölliker (Kelker) Born in 1705, Emigrated from Herrliberg, Canton Zurich, Switzerland, and settled in Bethel now (Swatara) Township, Lebanon County, in 1743. One of the Elders of the Reformed Congregation Hill Church in 1745. Died in 1762; also Regula Braetscheri, his wife.”

NOTE.—At the same time a stone of the same size and quality was shipped for the Heilman family, inscribed with the name of John Adam Heilman, and erected on same lot with the “Kelker” stone. The said John Adam Heilman was a fellow Elder of same Congregation in same year, 1745.

NOTE.—The sponsors of ANNA MARIA were John C. Gerhart and wife; of ANNA ELIZABETH, John Jaegli and wife, and of RUDOLPH, Rudolph Hab and Maria Templeman, the wife of Conrad Templeman, the Pastor of Hill Church. RUDOLPH was buried in the church-yard at Lebanon, August 5, 1826. R. F. Kelker attended the funeral, in company with his father, Frederick Kelker, of Harrisburg.

In June, 1743, HENRY and family left Switzerland for America. It does not appear that any except himself, wife, and two children, Anthony and Susanna, reached this country, together with his (full) sister Verrena.* (3) See page 27 Swiss Record. The other children are supposed to have died before leaving Europe or on shipboard, as tradition says they were twenty-eight weeks on the ocean. They settled about four miles from Lebanon, Pennsylvania. Henry Kelker was an active member and elder in the Reformed Church, "Hill Church," (Berg Kirch), five miles north-west of Lebanon, which he assisted in building in 1744, as the records of the Church show. All of the early entries in the Church-book are in his hand writing.† In the Record-book of "Kimmerling's" Reformed Church, situated three miles north-east of Lebanon, Pa., it appears that in 1745, Henry Kölliker presented to the congregation a baptismal bowl and platter, and Jacob Kimmerling, a tankard and cup for communion service. On the tankard, (which R. F. Kelker saw July 28, 1871,) is inscribed the following: "Y K : H. S : C S W : 1745."

* VERENA (VERONICA) KÖLLIKER,

Who accompanied her brother, Henry Kölliker, to this country, was his (full) sister. His father had been twice married, and she was the daughter of the first wife, Elizabeth Müller. See page 27, Swiss Record. Henry had a daughter Verena (9) by his second wife, Elizabeth Egle, who was the Froena spoken of, by John Jacob Kölliker, in his letter of March 23, 1769, to Anthony Kelker, page 63 of this book, as the "youngest sister and" (then) "unmarried," and who, by the Swiss Record, page 27, married, in 1772, near Meilen. The Verena (Veronica) Kölliker who came to this country, married John Miller of Lebanon township, (then) in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. See Deed Book Q, vol. 1, pp. 200, &c., Recorder's Office of Dauphin county, Pennsylvania, the receipt and release of Rudolph Kelker to Anthony Kelker, who was administrator of the estate of Feronica Miller, (sister of Henry Kelker,) for his share of her estate. "Before the solemnization of their marriage they entered into a marriage contract, by which she reserved to herself, her heirs and assigns, all the goods and chattels, rights and credits, which were then in her possession, and computed as her property, and divers other things," &c., &c. Her husband, John Miller, "died in 1776, and she soon thereafter, both intestate." Her estate descended to her brother Henry's children. Balance on settlement, as per inventory and account filed in Orphans' Court of Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, was £262 0s. 9d., Continental Congress money, and £234 18s. 6d. real specie.

† By the minutes of the Reformed Church Coetus (Synod) held at Lancaster, Pa., in April, 1755, it appears that Elder Henry Kölliker attended the sessions thereof as a delegate.

HENRY'S sponsors at baptism were Killian Mark and wife.

ELIZABETH'S sponsors at baptism were Jacob Laubscher and Elizabeth Kelker. Church-book says, born April 20, 1766. It should be "baptised."

RUDOLPH'S sponsors were his uncle Rudolph Kelker and Margareta Merck.

This Anthony Kelker, seems by the Record to have had a daughter Mary Magdalena, baptised in 1760; probably his first child, who died in her infancy.

ANTHONY KELKER, page 91, Born at Herrliberg, Canton Zurich, Switzerland, December 30, 1733. Baptised in the Gross Münster Kirch, Zurich, January 1, 1734, (See page 28, Swiss Record.) Died at Lebanon, March 12, 1812, and buried in the old cemetery in the rear of the German Reformed Church, Lebanon. Funeral services were performed by the Pastor Revd William Hiester. By his request the 520th Hymn (German) German Reformed Hymn Book, commencing "Ach Herr! lehre mich bedenken, Dass Ich einmal sterben muss," &c. The following verse is inscribed on his tombstone: "Ich ruhe in Meiner Grabes gruft, Bis Mir die Stimme Jesu ruft." He was brought up on his father's farm. He was commissioned August 28, 1775, Lieutenant in the Second batallion of Lancaster County Associators "for the protection of the Province and for the defence of American Liberty," and was in active service during the campaign of 1776. In 1777 he was an officer in the militia at Brandywine and Germantown. He was appointed January 19, 1778, wagon master of Col. Greenwalt's battalion, and the same year was sent on a secret expedition to Maryland and Virginia. (See pages 127 and 128.) In Egle's History of Dauphin and Lebanon Counties (1883) it is said of him, that "until the close of the war Captain Kelker was an active participant. He was deputy sheriff of Lancaster County in 1781-2, and upon the formation of the county of Dauphin was commissioned the first sheriff in 1785, and was subsequently elected, serving till 1788. He was a member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives 1793-4. He was a very active member and a vestry man of the German Reformed Church and treasurer of the same during the erection of the old First Reformed Church in Lebanon in 1794. Mr. Kelker was a man of strict integrity, an unflinching patriot, and highly esteemed by his fellow citizens."

MARY MAGDALENA KELKER, wife of Anthony, was born in Lancaster county, Penna., August 26, 1739. She was a daughter (by second marriage) of George Meister, whose first wife was a Miss Merck, (Mark,) and was raised in the family of Orth, great grandfather of Rebecca, wife of Doctor Luther Reily, now (1850) of Harrisburg, Pa. She died at Lebanon Dec. 30, 1818. Buried Jan 1, 1819, by the side of her husband. Funeral service by Rev. William Heister, pastor. Text 2nd Cor., 5 ch., 2nd verse.

On her tombstone is inscribed :

"Hier ist mein Ruhe Haus,
Hier ruhe ich nach Schmerzen aus;
Ich bin durch einer sanften Tod,
Entgangen aller Angst und Noth."

For nearly the last four years of her life, she was afflicted with a spinal disease; she had but little pain, but was deprived of the use of her lower limbs. Her constant attendant was Christina Spangler, a worthy woman, assisted by Henry Kelker and daughter Mary. We hope that God will reward each of them for their labor of love.

In July, 1871, R. F. Kelker visited Lebanon, Pa.; and finding the grave stones erected by his father at the graves of his grandparents dilapidated, he purchased of Jere E. Daugherty, at Lebanon, new Rutland Marble gravestones per graves of Anthony & Mary M. Kelker and erected them. The old stones were deposited in the graves and covered with earth.

ELIZABETH KELKER, daughter of Anthony and Mary M. Kelker, was born about four miles from Lebanon, Pennsylvania, and was a member (as were her father and mother) of the German Reformed Church. She married Christian Gruenewalt, of Lebanon, who was born December 14, 1758. Removed to Harrisburg, 17—, where her husband died February 3, 1796, leaving her a widow with three children, viz: Catherine, married John Brooks, Esq.*; Margaret, since married to Samuel Swartz,† and Cassandria, since married to George Ackerman.‡ Cassandria was born December 9, 1794. Baptised March 29, 1795, by Rev. Henry Müller, Lutheran minister, at Harrisburg, and died at Harrisburg, October 15, 1873. October 29, 1799, the widow, ELIZABETH GRUENENWALT, married JOHN GILLUM, of Harrisburg, who died in 18—. Again a widow, she resided for many years with her brother, Frederick Kelker, Harrisburg, in whose house she died July 30, 1825. Buried July 31, 1825, in the German Reformed burying-ground, Harrisburg, (corner of Fourth and Chestnut streets.) Service by Rev. Albert Helfenstein, junior. Text, 84th Psalm, 11th verse.

In November, 1849, her remains and those of her first husband were exhumed and re-interred in the Harrisburg cemetery, on ground bought by her brother, Frederick Kelker, and presented to her grandsons Frederick K. and George W. Swartz. The remains of her son-in-law, Samuel Swartz, and her daughter Margaret, were also placed in the same lot.

RUDOLPH, son of Anthony and Mary M. Kelker. Born about four miles from Lebanon, Pennsylvania, February 2, 1768. For about two years previous to his death he was sick and indisposed. In the year 1800 he visited and remained for some time at Berkely Springs, Virginia, but received no important benefit. In 1785, 6, and 7 his father was sheriff of Dauphin county, and Rudolph rendered him much assistance in that office. Afterwards, he was a clerk in one of the county offices of Lancaster. He was thence called as a clerk to Cornwall charcoal furnace, for James Boyd, and entered upon his duties there April 1, 1791. He was soon promoted by Robert Coleman, the owner, to the station of manager of the furnace, which he filled to the entire satisfaction of his employer and of the community. Early in 1801, finding his health rapidly declining, he resigned this post, and engaged apartments in the house then owned and occupied by Frederick Hubley, Lebanon, now (1850) by Jacob B. Weidman, where he remained until his death, May 30, 1801, aged 33 years, 3 months, and 28 days. He was a consistent member of the Reformed Church. None of the stationed clergy of Lebanon being at home, the Rev. John Andrew Shultze, (afterwards Governor of Pennsylvania,) of the Tulpehocken Lutheran Church, performed the funeral rites, and delivered an appropriate discourse.

JACOB, son of Anthony and Mary M. Kelker, was born about four miles from Lebanon, Pennsylvania, July 14, 1770. He was a member of the German Reformed Church. Saddler by occupation, instructed in that trade partly by Trissler, of Lancaster, and partly by John Greenawalt, of Lebanon. He also made himself acquainted with the hatting business, which he conducted for a short time in company with Jacob Friedley, in the old house which formerly stood on the north corner of Market street and River alley, Harrisburg. Frederick Farnsler proposing a partnership, he accepted, and in the spring, 1794, they left Lebanon, and located themselves at Lynchburg, Virginia, in the saddlery business. At the request of his father, Farnsler returned to Lebanon, which dissolved the partnership. From some of Jacob Kelker's letters subsequently received, it appears that he remained a while in Virginia, thence removed to Nashville and to Knoxville, Tennessee, thence to Natchez and to New Orleans. Returned again to Natchez, and from thence removed to Mobile, and thence to Pensacola. From Pensacola he went to his lands at the head of Escambia bay, where he resided for some time, but being much afflicted, he removed to the town of Florida, where he died September 4, 1827. As Florida then belonged to Spain, there was but little intercourse with the United States, and but little was known of him by the family here. He was unmarried.

MARY MAGDALENA, daughter of Anthony and Mary M. Kelker, was born in Lebanon, November 13, 1778. She was a member of the German Reformed Salem Church of Harrisburg. Married to Henry Wolf, of Jonestown, Lebanon county, Pa., where they lived for some years. In 1809 her husband was elected sheriff of Dauphin county, and they removed to Harrisburg. Their dwelling house (the second above Market street, in Market square, north-east side) and much personal property was destroyed by fire on the morning of the . . . , 1828.) Mr. Wolf rebuilt his property, and occupied it until his death, July 17, 1831. He was buried July 19, 1831, in the German Reformed burying-ground, Fourth street, Harrisburg. His widow was taken by her brother, Frederick Kelker, to his own home, Front street, until a dwelling-house in South Second street, a few doors above Chestnut, was repaired for her use, where she resided until her decease, August 23, 1860, at the age of eighty-one years, nine months, and ten days. Her remains were interred in the Harrisburg cemetery, in the same grave with those of her husband, which had been removed from the grave-yard in Harrisburg, and a marble headstone erected at her grave by her nephews, Rudolph F., Immanuel M., and Henry A. Kelker. Mr. and

Mrs. Wolf had no children. The following extract is from her obituary notice, published by her pastor :

“Nearly thirty years of her life were spent in widowhood. Having devoted herself to the service of God at an early age, she maintained her profession strictly to the last. Her attachment to the Church was strong and unwavering. Never was she absent from any of the services either on the Sabbath or during the week, if it was possible for her to be present. She realized the importance, not only of the new birth, but also of sanctification. There was no point in her pilgrimage at which she was disposed to stop, and no period in which she suffered her christian armor to rust. Christianity was for her the attainment of full christian womanhood, in order to which growth was just as necessary as birth. Forgetting the things which were behind, she seemed constantly to be looking forward to the things which were before, ever striving to reach even the highest possible perfection. To attain the “mark of her high calling,” she was not only punctual in her attendance upon the means of grace in the sanctuary, but always active. Her visits among her friends and acquaintances were frequent ; and into whatever family she entered, she had always something to say for Christ and his Church. Spiritual carelessness on the part of any would pain her deeply. She desired not only to see all the members of the Church living consistent lives, but also to see the Church increase and prosper. Nothing caused a greater and purer delight to pervade her heart than to see the young devoting themselves to God in confirmation, and then earnestly contending for the prize of eternal life. As is the case with all God’s children, she had seen much affliction and many trials, but her Saviour enabled her to pass in patience and profit through them all. She had lived to follow nearly all the friends of her youth to the grave ; and during the latter part of her life she felt lonely in the crowd. The sickness that ended her days was of short duration. In it she felt that she would die. She had nothing to fear. She told me that, though, she had dear friends who cared for her here, still “to be with Christ was far better.” Several hours before her death she fell asleep, in which her spirit fled away. Rest in peace.”

PASTOR.

FROM THE MORAVIAN RECORDS AT BETHLEHEM, PA.—JOHN MERCK, (MARK.)

JOHN MERCK, (an uncle to Maria Magdalena Kelker, wife of Anthony Kelker, see page 72,) was born Dec. 25, 1723, in the Canton of Zurich, in Switzerland. Came to Pennsylvania with his parents in his ninth year. His father died on the voyage. The mother moved to Lancaster, where she married again. In his eighteenth year he moved to Quitpahilla, (now called Lebanon,) and became acquainted with the Moravians. In 1747 he went to Bethlehem and joined the Church. In 1752 he accompanied an expedition to North Carolina for the purpose of surveying land belonging to the Moravians. In 1760 he was called to serve as a missionary in the island of St. Thomas, West Indies. He remained here seven years and then returned to Bethlehem, where he married the widow Maria Susannah Levering, (late Bechtel.) After receiving ordination, he went back to the mission, this time to serve on the island of St. John. In 1769 a son was born to them, but he died before his father, (1793,) in the city of Philadelphia. They had no other children. His wife died apparently about the year 1778 or 9 in the West Indies. Five children of her first husband survived her. In 1786 Mr. Merck removed to Bethlehem, and died there on the 18th of December, 1796. Revd. Merck (Mark) visited Lebanon during the boyhood of Frederick Kelker, (page 87,) at the request of Anthony Kelker, who sent Frederick to Bethlehem to escort Revd. Merck to Lebanon. The journey was made on horseback.

FREDERICK KELKER, son of Anthony and Mary Magdalena Kelker, was born in Lebanon, Pennsylvania, October 29, 1780, in the stone house in Market square, (1857,) owned by ——— Guilford, Esq. Baptised November 26, 1780, by Rev. Ludwig Lupp, (who was born January 7, 1733, and died June 28, 1798,) the then pastor of the German Reformed Church, at Lebanon. He was confirmed in and united with the German Reformed Church, at Lebanon, about the year 1797. Entered the store of Oves & Moore, corner of Market and Cumberland streets, Lebanon, to learn the mercantile business, May —, 1801. Entered into partnership in the hardware business with Oves & Moore, and removed to Harrisburg in March, 1805, where he commenced business No. 5 (now No. 9) South Front street, under the firm of F. Kelker & Co. on the 1st of April, 1805. This partnership continued until April 1, 1811, when he purchased the interest of Oves & Moore, and became sole owner of the store. He purchased the house itself from Henry Isett, April 1, 1813. He continued in the hardware business until July, 1823, when his health failing, he sold out to George Ogelsby and Jacob Pool. He commenced taking an inventory July 11, 1823, and finished it July 23, 1823, at which latter date he may therefore be said to have finally retired from business. He never regained robust health, and was an invalid until his death, which took place, as above stated, July 12, 1857, in the same house he had lived for more than fifty-two years. From the time of his retirement from business until his decease he manifested great interest in the welfare of his successors in business, and there was perhaps no year in which a portion of his capital was not to a greater or less extent used by them whenever they desired it. He was remarkable for punctuality and integrity. A close observer of human nature and safe counselor, being often appealed to by his fellow-citizens; calm and modest in his demeanor, he was not to be swerved from his purposes when he felt that he was in the line of duty. His habits of industry and economy led to the acquisition of a competency, and the latter half, especially, of his long life was devoted in his own quiet and unobtrusive way to the amelioration of the condition of the poor, sick, and friendless. In the vigor of manhood he filled many minor positions in the community in which he lived, always rejecting political preferment. For several terms he was a member and president of the borough council; was a director of the branch established by the Philadelphia Bank in Harrisburg; a director of the Harrisburg Bank; a director of common schools when they were first established in Pennsylvania, and was ready at all times to cooperate with his fellow-citizens in all the benevolent enterprises of the day. In the Reformed Church, of which he was a member, he was prominent; presided at the meeting on the 17th of November, 1820, to establish the first Sunday school in connection with the Church, and active in the measures adopted for erecting the Church building yet standing on the corner of Third and Chestnut streets. His last illness commenced on the evening of the 21st of June, 1857, and it soon became apparent that he would not recover. He was visited by his pastor, Rev. D. Gans, and also by Rev. George Marquart, pastor of the Evangelical Church of Harrisburg. He particularly enjoyed the visits of the latter, who faithfully administered the consolations of religion. He had patiently waited for many years for the great change, and was therefore prepared for it. About twelve hours before his departure he sank into a deep sleep, in which he breathed heavily. Believing that he might thus pass away, his oldest son felt anxious to have one more assurance from him of his resignation to the Divine will. He accordingly aroused him from his slumber saying, Father, you seem to be about to leave us, can you still trust in Jesus? To this he replied in a very empathic manner, raising and clasping his hands together, "Oh my, yes." These were his last words on earth, and at one o'clock on Sunday morning, July 12, 1857, he entered upon the enjoyment of the eternal Sabbath above.

His funeral took place on the afternoon of July 14, 1857. His remains were interred in the family burial lot in the Harrisburg cemetery. The pall bearers were the elders and deacons of the Reformed Church. The services at the house and at the grave were conducted by Rev. D. Gans, in the English, and Rev. George Marquart, in the German language.

LYDIA GEMBERLING, (CHAMBERLAIN,) wife of Frederick Kelker, was born in Philadelphia, April 9, 1786. Baptised April 27, 1786. United with the German Reformed Church, at Harrisburg, April 22, 1809, under Rev. Philip Gloninger, pastor. She departed this life on Saturday morning, after five o'clock, May 2, 1812, and was buried the following Sunday afternoon, May 3, 1812, aside of her daughter Mary M., in the German burying-ground, corner Fourth and Chestnut streets, Harrisburg. Services at the grave by her pastor, Rev. P. Gloninger, where the hymn "Alle menschen müssen Sterben" was sung. From the grave the relatives and congregation went into the Reformed and Lutheran Church, a log building which then stood on the corner of Cherry alley and Third street, Harrisburg, where the pastor delivered a discourse on Genesis, 49 chapter, 18 verse. In February, 1812, she passed through a severe spell of sickness, which resulted in pulmonary consumption. She was confined to her room from twelve to thirteen weeks prior to her departure, eight weeks (less one day) of which time she was confined to her bed.

LETTER OF HENRY WIRT, ESQ., RELATIVE TO MISS ANNA MARIA FORNEY, OF HANOVER, PA., TO WHOM FREDERICK KELKER WAS (IN 1817) ENGAGED TO BE MARRIED, BUT WHO SUDDENLY DIED JUST BEFORE THE WEDDING WAS TO HAVE TAKEN PLACE.

HANOVER, January 30, 1869.

DEAR BRO. KELKER :

At your request, as made of me when I was in Harrisburg last, I have examined the tombstone of the Miss Forney who it seems was engaged to be married to your father, but who died about the time the matter was to be consummated.

My mother, who well recollects the circumstances, says that the tombstone was put there by your father, though of this there is no evidence on the stone itself. It is a large marble slab on brick foundation, and has the following inscription :

“Sacred to the memory of

ANNA MARIA FORNEY, Daughter of Adam and Rachael Forney, born June 23, 1792, departed this life October 5, 1817, in the twenty-fifth year of her age.

Few were her pangs, nor long with woe opprest;
Short was her passage to the port of rest;
Life and its joys she thought not worth her stay,
Just viewed our troubled globe and soared away.”

With my respects to Mrs. Kelker and your family,

I remain, truly yours,

HENRY WIRT.

R. F. KELKER.

CATHARINE, (Fager,) second wife of FREDERICK KELKER (page 100) was the daughter of John Fager, a hatter by trade, and Sarah (Cleckner) his wife, who settled in Harrisburg about the year 1785. CATHARINE was born at Harrisburg on the 24th of October, 1798, baptised December 2, 1798, by Rev. ——— confirmed as a member of the Evangelical Lutheran Zion's Church, Fourth street, Harrisburg, Pa., by the pastor, Rev. F. C. Scheaffer, on Good Friday, March 24, 1815, and first partook of the communion of the Lord's Supper, Easter, March 26, 1815. She took a very active interest in the first organization of the Sunday school of the Lutheran church, and labored diligently for its success as a manager and teacher. After her marriage, she withdrew from the Lutheran, and united with the Reformed congregation, of which her husband was a prominent member. She was a woman of exemplary piety, humble, devoted, unostentatious, and remarkable for her meek and gentle spirit. In the Church, and in the sewing circle, Sunday school, mission society, and benevolent society, her labors were unremitting. She was deeply interested in the education and maintenance of poor young men studying for the Gospel ministry, and heartily engaged in every good work. She was the light of the family circle, given to hospitality, and was a most affectionate wife and mother.

She enjoyed through life excellent health until her last illness, which continued for three weeks, when in the triumphs of faith she fell peacefully asleep in Jesus, on Saturday morning, August 15, 1846.

Her funeral sermon was preached by her pastor, on Sunday, August 23, 1846. Text: Revelation, 7th chapter, 13th to 17th verses inclusive.

The pall-bearers at her funeral were the elders of the church, Daniel W. Gross, George Zinn, George P. Wiestling, and Elias Zollinger. The ministers attending were her pastor Rev. John F. Mesick, Rev. Charles W. Scheaffer, and Rev. Joseph F. Berg. Her physicians, William W. Rutherford, Joshua M. Wiestling, and Luther Reily. The immediate relatives and friends, and neighbors attending by invitation, were Frederick Kelker, Rudolph F. Kelker and wife, Immanuel M. Kelker and Henry A. OBITUARY NOTICES OF CATHARINE, WIFE OF FREDERICK KELKER, TAKEN FROM TWO OF THE NEWSPAPERS OF HARRISBURG, AUGUST, 1846.

Departed this life on the 15th of August, 1846, MRS. CATHARINE KELKER, wife of Mr. Frederick Kelker, of this boroug^s.

This brief notice chronicles the decease of one of our most estimable citizens, after a severe and somewhat protracted illness. The bereavement, however, is attended with those peculiar and sustaining consolations which the departure of the christian, in the triumph of faith, alone can impart. She left the world in peace with her God, and fell sweetly asleep in the arms of Jesus, without a struggle or a groan.

At the commencement of her sickness, and before any serious apprehension that she was in danger were entertained, she expressed the conviction that the time of her departure was at hand. The prospect of death did not excite in her any alarm, for she had set her house in order, and had placed her trust on the merits of the Redeemer. The language most frequently on her lips, in connection with this event was, "Jesus is precious! I am unworthy! but worthy is the Lamb!" During the progress of her illness, towards its fatal termination, she frequently requested those who visited her : " Pray for me, that my patience may not fail under suffering." Nor was it in vain in this trying hour that she cast herself on God's sustaining grace ; for that amiable spirit which constituted the preëminent trait of her character shone conspicuously to the last.

Mrs. Kelker was admired and loved through a course of years, for the uniform evenness of her temper, manifesting at all times the meek and humble disposition of a consistent christian.

It might be said of her, she never seemed to think of herself, but only to study the comfort and happiness of others. It is almost needless to add, that of the domestic circle, she was one of the sweetest, and most lovely ornaments, as those can testify who had the privilege of her society and friendship. She has left a large number of warmly attached friends, who will deeply mourn her loss.

She doubtless would have rejoiced, had it been consistent with the will of her Heavenly Father, to have remained on earth to minister to the temporal and spiritual welfare of her family and friends, and especially to contribute whatever of talent or influence she possessed, to promote the prosperity of the Church of God. It is with a mournful pleasure that now we recall her zeal in laboring for the interest of the congregation to which she belonged. She was one of the most regular and faithful attendants on the means of grace, and one of the most prompt individuals in her sphere in coöperating for the advancement of every good cause. In her death, that congregation has lost the services of one of its most exemplary and valuable members.

But she was also enabled to say, through the help of divine grace. " I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ, which is far better." Heaven was to her an object of ardent desire, because, that there she would be free from sorrow, temptation, and sin.

To the weeping friends gathered at her bedside, she would say again and again, " Weep not for me, I am going home !" In that same sweet spirit of love to others, of forgetfulness of self, and of undisturbed repose on her Redeemer, she gently sank in the embrace of death. She has gone ! But we trust to a brighter and better world, to enjoy the blissful presence of that Saviour whom she humbly attempted to follow, whose promises were the source of her most coveted joys.

Her remains were followed to the grave by a large concourse of citizens, and were committed to the dust amid the sequestered shades of our beautiful cemetery, where they quietly rest in the hope of a glorious resurrection,

COMMUNICATED.*

OBITUARY, WRITTEN BY HER PASTOR.

DIED.—At Harrisburg, Pa., on the 15th of August, 1846, Mrs. CATHARINE KELKER, wife of Mr. Frederick Kelker.

Death has again executed his dread commission, and removed, after a severe and somewhat protracted illness, another truly excellent member of the German Reformed Church. This sad event, however, is attended with a consolation that surpasseth all price, not only with the assurance that God reigns and doeth all things well, but with satisfactory evidence that she was prepared to die and to meet her Creator in another world.

It is somewhat remarkable that from the commencement of her indisposition she seemed to be impressed with the idea that she would not recover. Accordingly she interrogated herself as to her fitness to enter into eternity while her mind was vigorous and unimpaired by disease, and through the abounding grace of her Redeemer, cast herself with confidence on the promises of the Gospel. In her case death had been robbed of his sting. He was not the King of terrors, but an angel of mercy sent to liberate her soul from its prison-house of clay. In the exercise of triumphant faith, she exclaimed, "Jesus is precious! I am unworthy, but worthy is the lamb!" And her chief solicitude seemed to be for strength from on high, to continue patient under pain of body, even to the end.

Mrs. Kelker's heart glowed with the kindest affections towards her family and friends. She was a rare wife, a fond mother, a devoted daughter, an affectionate sister, and a pleasant neighbor. Her disposition of mind was lovely, presenting a harmonious union of the meek and amiable traits of the christian character, and it was most apparent to those who knew her best. Her countenance beamed with the expressions of humility and benevolence, the tones of her voice were soothing and gentle, and her manner cordial and warmhearted. She never seemed to think of herself, but only to study the comfort and happiness of others.

It is with mournful pleasure we recall her interest in the welfare of the Church and of the denomination to which she belonged. She was faithful and regular in her attendance on the preached word, at the communion table, at the prayer meeting, and lecture during the week. She was ever prompt and ready to cooperate with the female members of the congregation in efforts to provide for the poor, to increase the comforts of the sanctuary, or to extend the hand of benevolence to the missionaries of the Cross in foreign lands. But whilst she exhibited to the world the fruits of a living faith, she shrunk from public observation, acting on the principle inculcated by the Master, "when thou doest alms, let not thy right hand know what thy left hand doeth." Her example, and the peace she enjoyed in a dying hour, are well calculated to encourage others to obey the precepts of Jesus. Her tranquil death, without a doubt or a fear, without a struggle or a groan, is a cheering illustration of the Divine promise, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them." She was resigned to the will of her Heavenly father, for she could say with the Holy Apostle, "for me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." When she beheld her friends with weeping eyes gathered round her bed, she said, "weep not for me, I am going home." She has gone, as we trust, to enjoy in a brighter and better world the blissful presence of that Saviour whom she loved and imitated here on earth.

Her remains were followed to the grave in the cemetery by a large concourse of mourning relatives and sympathizing friends, where a most affecting and appropriate address was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Berg, who was present on the occasion, assisting the pastor.

MEMORIAL OF JOHN FAGER, GRANDFATHER OF RUDOLPH F. KELKER, (PAGE 105.)

Departed this life at the residence of his son, George C. Fager, on the afternoon of May 10, 1848. JOHN FAGER, aged seventy-nine years and eleven months.

Mr. Fager was one of the earliest inhabitants of Harrisburg, and at the time of his decease, one of our oldest citizens. A man of enterprise and integrity; his life which had been long was also useful. He acquired early, and retained until the last, the respect and confidence of all who knew him. As a christian his piety was unostentatious, steadfast, and sincere. Having begun to form his character in his youth, it continued to strengthen him for the duties of active life, was his solace under all the trials and infirmities of age, and fortified him for his final conflict. He was the last survivor of that band of venerable men who in 1795 united in organizing the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Harrisburg. His early zeal for the cause of Christ continued unabated until the end of his earthly labors, and he looked with confidence towards the attainment of everlasting rest, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus.

His remains were interred on the 12th inst., in the peaceful shades of the Harrisburg cemetery, their to repose until the glorious morning of the resurrection, when "all who sleep in Jesus," God shall bring with him.

He was married to Sarah Cleckner, who was born in Pottstown, Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, January 16, 1772, and died in Harrisburg, Pa., August 21, 1844, in the assured hope of a blissful immortality. Their married life covered a period of fifty-six years.

NOTE.—SARAH CLECKNER, was a daughter of Frederick Cleckner, who was born in Germany, August 17, 1737, and died October 6, 1806, and who was married to Elizabeth Maria Rodarmel, (Rothermal,) who was born in Pottsgrove, Montgomery county, Pa., May 9, 1747, and died September 14, 1816.

* MARY ANNE, born at Myerstown, Pa., and baptized by Revd. Bates at same place.

† WILLIAM REILY, (born August 14, 1792, died July 28, 1843.) was married, September 27, 1818, by Revd. W. Hendel, to SALOME VALENTINE, who was born November(?), 1800, and died at Harrisburg, May 23, 1866. Member of Pennsylvania Legislature in 1830 and 1831. For many years Brigade Inspector, and at the time of his decease Brigadier General. He was a son of JOHN REILY, Attorney-at-Law, born in England, April 12, 1752, died May 2, 1810, and wife ELIZABETH MYERS, who was born April 2, 1755, and died April 2, 1800. Both are interred in the Reformed Church Cemetery, three miles east of Myerstown, Pa. They were married May 20, 1773, in Lancaster, by Revd. Thomas Barton. (See notice of Capt. John Reily, page 108.)

The four children of R. F. Kelker and Mary A. Kelker were born in the house No. 6 North Second street, Market square, Harrisburg, in which their parents resided from March 15, 1845, to September 7, 1858, when they removed to No. 9 South Front street, the same premises on which they now (1883) reside, and where Frederick Kelker settled in March, 1805. They were all baptised by the same Pastor, Rev. John F. Mesick, as follows:

FREDERICK, November 5, 1845, in the old lecture-room of the Reformed Salem Church. LUTHER REILY, in the same lecture-room, May 3, 1848. RUDOLPH F. KELKER, at the dwelling house of his grandfather, Frederick Kelker, Front street, on the seventieth anniversary of his birthday, October 29, 1850, and WILLIAM ANTHONY, before the communion table in the Reformed Salem Church, Harrisburg, March 19, 1854.

FREDERICK died at five o'clock, seven minutes, P. M., August 31, 1849. Buried in Harrisburg cemetery, September 2, 1849, at five, P. M.

RUDOLPH F. died at five, A. M., June 24, 1854, after an illness of nine hours, and was interred by the side of his brother, Frederick, at four, P. M., June 26, 1854.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IN REFERENCE TO R. F. KELKER, IS TAKEN FROM EGLE'S HISTORY OF DAUPHIN AND LEBANON COUNTIES, AND HAS BEEN REVISED BY WILLIAM H. EGLE, A. M., M. D.:

RUDOLPH FREDERICK KELKER, (page 95,) son of Frederick Kelker and Catharine Fager, was born February 17, 1820, at Harrisburg, Pa. In March, 1835, he entered the hardware store of Ogelsby & Hinckley, successors to his father, to learn the business, and continued with them until May, 1838, when, owing to delicate health, he left the establishment, and gave attention to the improvement of his father's lands in the vicinity of Harrisburg. On the 18th of November, 1842, he purchased the interest of Mr. Hinckley, and carried on the hardware business with his partner, Mr. Ogelsby, until the death of the latter, March 21, 1846. He continued the business alone until May following, when he associated with him his two brothers, and conducted the same under the firm name of Kelker & Brothers, remaining in business until May 14, 1851, when, on account of failing health, he retired from mercantile pursuits. In 1852 he was elected a director of the Harrisburg Bank, in which institution he has served a number of triennial terms, and is at present a member of the board. For several years he was a director of the First National Bank and a manager of the Harrisburg cemetery. At the time of the incorporation of Harrisburg as a city, he was appointed, with seven other citizens, by the Legislature, on the commission to lay out the streets and avenues necessary in the new territory included within its limits. Since 1854 he has served as a trustee of the Harrisburg Academy, and was for a long time secretary and treasurer thereof.

From 1866 to 1872 he served as a director of the poor for the county of Dauphin, and obtained such legislation as secured new additional buildings and improvement in the general management of the alms-house, as greatly alleviated the condition of the unfortunate inmates. He was one of the founders of the city hospital, a manager since its organization in 1873, from March, 1878, its treasurer, and was on the committee to superintend the construction of the new building recently erected. From January 9, 1873, to February 1, 1875, he was one of the trustees of the Pennsylvania State Lunatic Hospital, at Harrisburg, and at the organization of the Harrisburg City Passenger Railway Company, in 1874, was made a director, and also, since November 2, 1874, has been its treasurer. Apart from these active duties of citizen life, Mr. Kelker's labors in the Reformed Church, of which he is a prominent member, it is here deemed proper to summarize. His parents were also members of the Reformed Church, and on the 27th of April, 1823, he was enrolled as a scholar in the Sunday school. On the 27th of December, 1835, he was confirmed by Rev. J. F. Berg, D.D., a member of the Church: a deacon of the Church from 1841 to 1849, an elder in the same from 1849 to 1875, excepting the year 1867, and since May, 1883, has filled the same position. From October, 1836, until April 29, 1850, he served as a teacher, and from the latter date until January, 1870, as superintendent of the Sunday school, when, at the request of the consistory of the Church, he took charge of an adult Bible class, which, during the first year, increased from twelve to ninety members, and at the close of December, 1874, it numbered one hundred and sixty-one, when the class was assigned, by the consistory, to the pastor of the Church, on account of Mr. Kelker's anti-ritualistic views. Being thus relieved of his work in the Sabbath school, he accepted an invitation, from his entire class, to take charge of them, and to organize an adult Bible class of both sexes, to be composed of persons of all denominations, as well as of those who had no Church relation, which organization was effected under the name of "Salem Bible Class of Harrisburg," now, 1883, numbering two hundred and eighty-three members, and has had connected with it during its existence more than seven hundred persons. The class has a valuable library, and for years has been one of the established religious institutions of the city. For many years Mr. Kelker was one of the vice presidents of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, and for the last three years one of the vice presidents of the board of managers of the American Sunday School Union. In 1845 he was elected a trustee of Marshall College, Mercersburg, and subsequently, until 1869, a corporate trustee after its union with Franklin College, of Lancaster, as Franklin and Marshall College.

The Eastern Synod of the Reformed Church was incorporated in 1859, and he was one of the five trustees named in the charter, and the first president of the board. For a number of years he was treasurer of Synod, and at present is vice president of the board of trustees. Since 1863, with the exception of three years, (1875-78,) up to the present time, he has served as treasurer of the Board of Foreign Missions of the General Synod of the Reformed Church. He was a member of the Synodical committee to prepare the "Triglott Tercentenary Heidelberg Catechism," published in 1863, but dissented from the final action of that body, believing the many changes made in the new English translation as wholly unwarranted, and uncalled for. He repeatedly represented his congregation in classis, and the classis as delegate to the Synod; was a member of the Synod of York, in 1866, and opposed the adoption and reference of the "New Order of Worship" to General Synod. In 1867, with others, he united in a call for a convention of the ministers and elders of the Eastern Synod, which assembled at Myerstown, Pa., to protest against the "Order of Worship," as being contrary to the doctrines and cultus of the Reformed Church. One of the results of this movement was the establishment, in 1869, of Ursinus College, at Freeland, Montgomery county, Pa., under the presidency of Rev. J. H. A. Bomberger, D. D., with a university charter, thus enabling the institution to teach theology as well as the classics. In 1879, Mr. Kelker served as a member of the "Peace Commission," a body consisting of twelve ministers, and twelve laymen, chosen by direction of the General Synod of the Reformed Church of the United States, by the several district Synods, to assemble at Harrisburg, Pa., and adjust the differences existing in that Church, in doctrine, cultus, and government. After eight days' discussion, a basis of union was unanimously adopted, and a new era in the history of the Church was opened up, which brought peace and harmony. The work of this commission was unanimously approved of by the General Synod, and the same persons were at once appointed by it to prepare an "Order of Worship" for the denomination suited to its wants, and evangelical in its character.

In June, 1839, at his suggestion, the Sunday school teachers of Harrisburg, founded the Harrisburg Sunday School Union, and of which he was the first secretary, and upon its re-organization in 1854, was chosen president thereof. He was one of the founders of the Young Mens' Christian Association, in December, 1854, and president of the same in 1856. He has likewise been deeply interested in the temperance work. In February, 1837, at the suggestion of, and in connection with an intimate friend, James Cowden, they started the first total abstinence society in Harrisburg, as previous to this date the temperance organizations allowed the use of malt and vinous liquors. In 1840, he took a prominent part in the Washington temperance movement, and has often represented the cause in State conventions. Since their organization, he has been the chairman of the executive committee, appointed by the christian citizens of Harrisburg a number of years ago, to watch the applications for license, so as to prevent improper persons from obtaining the same, and to require all engaged in the liquor traffic to conform to the provisions of the license laws. As foreman of the grand jury of the county in 1871, 1873, and 1879, he made presentment of the license law as a public nuisance, and gave valuable statistics on the subject, which attracted great attention. The report of 1873 was widely circulated, more than fifty thousand copies being printed by the friends of the temperance cause. In accordance with the suggestions of this report, almost one half of the applications for that year, for hotel and saloon liquor license, were refused by the Court.

Mr. Kelker never received a collegiate education as had been intended by his parents, owing to the delicate state of his health in his early years. In childhood, during the years of 1825 to 1828, he attended the schools of Rachael Huckle, Peter Birkman, Samuel Johnson, and the primary department of the Harrisburg Academy, under Dr. J. M. Keagy. On the 8th of October, 1828, he entered the school of Henry Cross, who came to Harrisburg from Centre county, Pennsylvania, at the request of his father and Joseph Wallace, a neighbor, and opened a school on that date, and in which he continued until 1831. He then entered the Harrisburg Academy, of which Alfred Armstrong was principal, where he pursued his studies until April, 1834. On the first day of May of that year he entered the Classical School of the German Reformed Church, then located at York, Pennsylvania, of which Rev. Frederick A. Rauch, Ph. D., was principal, and Samuel A. Budd and Rev. Charles Dober, professors. A severe illness, beginning about the first of August, so prostrated him that, on the 18th of August, 1834, he was brought home, and, in accordance with the advice of his physicians, abandoned the idea of seeking an education in the schools.

At Harrisburg.

Born near Hillsboro', county of Down, Ireland, ten miles from Belfast.

Born at York, Pa. Died at Harrisburg.

IMMANUEL MEISTER KELKER, son of Frederick and Catharine Kelker, (page 86,) was born in Harrisburg, May 21, 1822. Educated in the schools of that city, and was for one year in the preparatory department of Marshall College, at Mercersburg, Pa. Desirous of learning the mercantile business, he was for sometime in the dry goods store of John C. Bucher & Co., then carried on in the brick house corner of Front and Market streets, Harrisburg. He subsequently entered into the hardware business with his two brothers, Rudolph F. and Henry A. Kelker, in May, 1846, under the firm name of Kelker & Brothers, (see page 108.) He remained in the hardware business until his decease, March 30, 1880. He was a confirmed member of the Reformed Salem Church of Harrisburg. Entered the Sabbath school in his early childhood, and continued through life a liberal supporter and very active laborer in the cause. He taught for many years in the Sunday school of the Salem Church, and assisted by personal labor and most liberal donations in the establishment of the Mission Sunday school, from which sprang the Second Reformed Church of Harrisburg. He served as deacon for a number of years in his own Church. From the time of the organization of the second Church, to which he and his brothers subscribed largely, his efforts were mainly for its welfare. In gathering children for its Sunday school, in one department of which he acted as superintendent, until his health failed; in providing at his personal expense clothing for destitute ones, and looking after the sick, he was most assiduous. His acts of charity in this direction were mainly unknown to any but the recipients until after his decease, and his loss was keenly felt by the school and Church. He was a firm and consistent advocate of the temperance reform, and did much to warn inebriates and encourage this unfortunate class to abandon the intoxicating cup, and to unite with some christian Church. He contributed largely to circulate religious literature, and many scores of families in Harrisburg and elsewhere have useful books in their possession given by him to lead them to Christ. He repeatedly held the position of director in the Harrisburg National Bank, but no public office. His time outside of his store was given to religious and benevolent work. Finding his health giving way, he finally arranged his business in 1878, as stated on page 108. His last illness was short and lasted but a few days. He passed away on the 30th day of March, 1880, and there is no doubt but that He whom he strove so faithfully to serve while on earth received him to a blessed reward in heaven. His remains were interred in the family burial lot Harrisburg cemetery April 2, 1880. Funeral services were performed by his pastor, Rev. W. H. H. Snyder.

HENRY A. KELKER, (pages 86 and 105,) youngest son of Frederick and Catharine Kelker, was born December 16, 1825. After attending primary schools in Harrisburg, and a few years' schooling in the Harrisburg Academy under Professor Alfred Armstrong, he was sent to the Preparatory Department of Marshall College, at Mercersburg, in November, 1842. He soon entered the College and continued a regular course of study until May, 1846, when he returned, for a short time, to Harrisburg, to arrange for a partnership in the hardware business with his brothers, at the old stand established by his father in 1805. (See History of this House in another part of this book.) He returned to College, but was unexpectedly summoned home by the severe illness of his mother, and on her death, on the 15th of August, 1846, he decided to remain in Harrisburg, and give personal attention to his business.

When his brother Rudolph relinquished the business, in May, 1851, he continued with his brother Immanuel under the firm name of Kelker & Brother, at the old stand, No. 5, now No. 9, South Front street, until September, 1857, when they removed to the south-east corner of Market square. The partnership continued until April 1, 1878. A large and profitable business had been secured, and the reputation of the house fully sustained. At this time he disposed of part of his stock to Luther R. and William A. Kelker who established a new store at No. 6½ North Market square, and a portion to his brother Immanuel M. Kelker, who continued the business (taking his two sons into partnership with him) under the firm name of Kelker & Sons. He has served many years as a director of the Harrisburg National Bank, as well as of the Harrisburg Market Company, and the Harrisburg Gas Company, and Harrisburg Burial-Case Company. He has served as a Member of the Common Council of the city of Harrisburg, and, since its organization in 1874, President of the Harrisburg City Passenger Railway Company. He was one of the founders of the town of Baldwin, now Steelton, a thriving suburban borough, the seat of the works of the Pennsylvania Steel Company.

He has been a member of the Reformed Salem Church of Harrisburg for the past forty years, and one of the trustees of the same for a number of years.

At this latter date, April 1, 1878, Henry A. Kelker withdrew from the firm, retired from business, and disposed of his stock, partly to his brother, I. M. Kelker, and partly to his nephews, Luther R. Kelker and William A. Kelker, sons of Rudolph F. Kelker, of the old firm of Kelker & Brothers, (1846-51.)

Immanuel M. Kelker associated with himself, his two sons, George B. and Frederick, and continued in business under the firm name of KELKER & SONS, and Luther R. Kelker and William A. Kelker associated in same business under firm name of KELKER BROTHERS. This partnership continued until April 1, 1883, when, owing to indisposition, William A. Kelker disposed of his interest to LUTHER R. KELKER, who continues the business in his own name.

CAPTAIN JOHN REILY.

(Copied, by permission, from Egle's History of Dauphin and Lebanon Counties, published 1883.)

John Reily was born at Leeds, England, on the 12th of April, 1752. His father, Benjamin Reily, emigrated soon after, and was a gentleman of some note in the Province of Pennsylvania. Receiving a classical education, the former began the study of law and was admitted to the bar on the eve of the Revolution. Accepting a commission as a Captain in the Twelfth Regiment of the Pennsylvania Line, subsequently (1778) transferred to the Third Regiment, he served with valor and distinction, and was severely wounded at Bonhamtown, New Jersey, being shot through the body. He was present and took part in the first term of the Dauphin county court, in May, 1785. In 1795 he published, at Harrisburg, "A Compendium for Pennsylvania Justices of the Peace," the first work of that character printed in America. Captain Reily died at Myerstown, May 2, 1810. He married, at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, by Rev. Thomas Barto, of the Episcopal Church, Elizabeth Myer, the daughter of the founder of Myerstown: born April 2, 1755; died April 2, 1800. * * * Captain Reily was not a brilliant orator, but was perfectly reliable as a lawyer, and had an extensive practice in Lancaster, Berks, and Dauphin courts. He was a tall courtly gentleman and an ardent whig of the Revolutionary era. He was a polished writer, and a manuscript book of literary excerpts in the possession of his descendants shows a refined and cultivated taste.

Company E, 50th Regiment, Pa. Vols.

(Copy.)

Corp. John H. Kelker was severely wounded in leg, May 6, at the battle of the Wilderness. He died at Fredericksburg May 19, and was buried there. A headboard was put to his grave. He was a dutiful and brave soldier. It seems as if I had to lose all my best men.

June 4, 1864.

Respectfully,

H. A. LANTZ,
Captain Company E, 50th Regiment, Pa. Vols.

To R. F. KELKER, Harrisburg.

NOTE.—This reply of Captain Lantz, written on same sheet which I had forwarded to John H. Kelker, was probably written on the field, and was received by Rudolph F. Kelker by mail. The records of the War Department of Pennsylvania show that the brave Captain Lantz was himself killed in battle a few weeks after he wrote the above lines.

Rudolph Kelker was born about four miles north of Lebanon, not far from the Jonestown road. He was the son of Henry Kolliker and Regula Brütcher, whose family record is on page 90 of this book. The said Rudolph is the head of the second line of the "Kolliker" family in the United States. As yet (1883) I have not been able to ascertain the year of his birth. I attended his funeral at Lebanon, August 5, 1826, in company with my father, Frederick Kelker.

From the "Hill" Church record near Lebanon, I learn that this Rudolph was baptised December 6, 1747. His sponsors were Rudolph Hab and Maria Templeman.

TRANSLATION OF LETTER OF REV. J. J. HESS TO RUDOLPH F. KELKER.

HERRLIBERG, (CANTON OF ZURICH, SWITZERLAND,)

*March 18, 1851.*To the Hon. RUDOLPH F. KELKER, Harrisburg :

HIGHLY HONORED SIR: Your honored communication, dated January 14, 1850, was duly received by me in the latter part of the month of March, and for some time past already it would have been proper for me to have replied to it. I am indeed obliged largely to presume upon your kind indulgence, and now being about to fulfill my duty, it is embarrassing to me to think that I could have so long neglected it. I should greatly prefer using the English language, yet, although I can read without difficulty whatever is written in it, I am not capable, from want of practice, to write a lengthy letter without finding myself frequently embarrassed in the expression of my ideas, and to you it will no doubt be quite easy to find some one among your acquaintances who could translate these lines for you.

Above all things I feel impelled to express to your my most grateful acknowledgements for the very liberal compensation which you have remitted me for executing the genealogy of the Kölliker (Kelker) family. On the 21st of January, 1850, I received through the hands of Mr. Zwilchenbart, in Basil, two hundred and fourteen (214) French francs; which, to my great surprise, were followed on the 10th of March following by thirty-six French francs more, making a sum total of two hundred and fifty (250) French francs. Although my labors were unavoidably connected with much pains and cost of time, I was very far from holding them at so high an estimate. It was the more painful to me to be obliged to learn some time since, already by Mr. Henry Bodmer, in Zurich, who has a mercantile house at New York, in which Mr. Conrad Wolfe is employed, that an indelicate intimation to remember my labors has been made to you. This was done entirely without my knowledge, at the instigation of a man who, from the start, was merely an agent, (a person standing between,) and who considered himself obliged without any cause or authority to act in my behalf. Mr. Bodmer, upon learning the state of the case through me, was much provoked at his officiousness, and requested me to give you an account of the whole transaction, in order that no blame might improperly rest upon him, which he certainly did not deserve. I should never have made any demand upon you, as this business from the very outset was one of mutual confidence, and I did not comply with your wish from speculative motives. It is a matter of conscience with me that you should believe me free from so low a sentiment, and that you should place full confidence in this, my statement, in case you have thus far entertained any suspicion towards me. I therefore repeat my sincere acknowledgements for all that I have received from you. Among these things are also to be included the interesting communications on the subject of your family, and the valuable extracts from the registers (records) of the same. I was especially rejoiced to learn that you have remained true to the German Reformed Church, and that you zealously exert yourself in behalf of its prosperity. Those men who cultivate theological science among you are also highly esteemed in Germany and in Switzerland. Rev. Ph. Schaff, a Grison (Graubiündtner) by birth, had already acquired a reputation as a man of talent and learning at Berlin, and during the last year I read in one of the most popular periodicals of Germany (Theology Studies and Criticisms) a very instructive treatise on the "Sects and Isms in America," by Rev. Dr. Nevin. You write of Rev. Schaff's publishing a periodical, "Der Kirchenfreund," and that you had ordered the same to be sent to me for the year 1850. So far I have not received any, yet I should be much obliged to you if you would carry out your intention. The best opportunity of transmission would probably be the same one which I made use of in regard to this letter, the Bookseller Franz, of Zurich, having an agent in New York, whose name I am very sorry to say I am not able to mention now. In this way I might, if you so desire it, send you in return the "Schweizer Kirchenblatt," published in Zurich, and conducted by a very distinguished theologian. It might particularly be interesting to Mr. Schaff. In regard to your family I feel curious to know whether or not the brothers of your grandfather Anthony, deceased, have left issue, and whether you know anything about them. In relation to the emigration of your ancestors from this district, I lately heard from a very old man that his grandfather had often related to him how he, while yet a small boy, saw those families that emigrated in 1743 get on board of ship without, however, being able to give their names; this, according to my knowledge, is the only tradition concerning it that has been preserved. Besides this I had the satisfaction lately to find in an old record presented to me by a resident of this place the names of your ancestors stated in the same way in which they are given in your genealogical record. At that time I was obliged to ascertain the name of your stam-mutter (the first mother in the record) by combinations, but now I am in possession of an evidence on record in relation to it. At the same time, with your ancestors, a Haab family from this place is said to have emigrated, and their descendants are said likewise to continue in the United States in good circumstances. This is also the case in this place. With Mr. Theodore Kölliker, in Zurich, dealer in clothes, (well known as the firm "Kölliker Brothers,") to whom you allude in your letters, I have personally conversed. He is originally from Thalwyl, but a citizen of this city, (Zurich.) I communicated your plan to him, but he remarked that being no manufacturer of cloth, it would not possibly be convenient to enter into business transactions with him.

That Switzerland, at this time, and especially since the new Constitution for the Union was adopted, is in a very happy condition compared with neighboring States, is probably known to you from the papers; yet from this very cause it is much envied and hated. On the 1st of May, current year, the fifth centenary jubilee of the annexation of Zurich to the Swiss confederacy will be celebrated in the grandest style at Zurich. Your letter did not reach me through Mr. Goundie or Prof. Reithard, but by mail from Havre. This will show to you that the address used by you was fully sufficient. Again asking your pardon for my long silence, and hoping again to receive communications from you, I remain with grateful esteem,

Yours humbly,

J. J. HESS, Reformed Pastor.

HARRISBURG, July 22, 1851.

To the Reverend JOHN JACOB HESS, Reformed Pastor, Herrliberg, Canton of Zurich, Switzerland:

REVEREND AND RESPECTED FRIEND: Yours dated the 18th March, 1851, reached me by mail from New York, on the 21st of June, only, I certainly owe you an apology for not replying earlier, but my numerous engagements have prevented me from taking sufficient time to make a satisfactory reply to your interesting communication until now. It gave me sincere pleasure to hear from you, and to learn not only that the money sent you had reached its proper destination, but more so, that you should feel that it was sufficient to satisfy or compensate you for your great trouble and care in making out our Family Records.

I shall ever hold in grateful remembrance your kindness, and shall esteem it a pleasure to do anything for you I can, in return for your favor. In relation to the letter of Mr. Conrad Wolfe, of New York, intimating that I should reward you liberally, &c., I would only say that I never believed that it emanated from you, or that it had either the sanction of Mr. Bodmer or yourself. I hope, therefore, that both your minds may be perfectly at ease on the subject, as I have always believed your previous statement, that the labor was undertaken and consummated, not from motives of gain, but as a favor to a distant friend, and so I have appreciated it. The reason I never sent you the "Kirchenfreund" as promised, was, that on inquiry, I found that to do so by mail, would cost you too much, and I did not like to impose a tax upon you, and I did not, until I had received your letter, know that I could send it by private opportunity. When you write to me again, please let me know what it would probably cost you for each monthly number for postage, if I were to have it directed and sent to you by mail, and whether it would certainly reach you uninterrupted by the agents or postmasters of the European Governments. Could I send you also, without subjecting you to too much tax or any trouble, an occasional copy of a religious weekly newspaper. I have written to, and received a reply from Rev. Dr. P. Schaff, of Mercersburg, and in accordance with my request, he will send you through Ernst Scheffer, bookseller, of Philadelphia, to some house in Leipzig, a copy of his work for 1850, for which I paid him. I shall write to Mr. William Radde of New York, and if I can effect it, will send some matters to you by him, which may be of interest to you. Of this I will advise you at the proper time, which will be shortly.

May I presume further on your kindness, by asking you to make some purchases for me in Zurich, of works or curiosities, which you may judge would be of interest to me. These might be, for instance:

1. Embossed or raised maps of Switzerland, or Zurich Canton particularly. These show the topography of the country they represent, its mountains and valleys. These should be colored.

2. Colored views of scenes or landscapes or public buildings in Switzerland, more particularly of scenes in Zurich Canton, of Gross Münster, and public buildings in Zurich city.

3. An old copy of the Swiss Bible, which I presume could be had in Zurich. I have a copy of, 1580. You could probably obtain one of a much older date.

4. You stated, also, that an old record had been presented to you by a resident of your place in which my ancestors names were written in the same order in which you had transcribed them in our family record.

If this old record could be obtained, I should like to have it also, and so there may be, and doubtless are, old books relating to the history of the Reformation, which you might purchase in the bookstores of Zurich for a reasonable price, and which cannot be had here. There is a book called the "Reformations Almanachs" for 1819, of which I would like to have a copy. On the whole, you can judge much better than I can describe what would be of sufficient interest to me, to send across the ocean. Enclosed you will find a draft payable to your order, at three days sight, of Syz, Irminger & Co., of Philadelphia, on W. Henry Brunner, of Zurich, for forty-two $\frac{2}{3}$ florins of Zurich. This amount you may appropriate in the manner specified, and send the package by Mr. Hanke, of Zurich, Köhler, of Leipsig, and Radde, of New York. When you send it, please instruct, particularly, the person to whom you may send it in this country, to send me the box by Adams Express. Please write me by mail at the same time, that I may be advised of its coming; and you can also please say to whose care you have sent it in this country. I should be happy to receive the Schweizer Kirchenblatt or any other periodicals you may see fit to send or purchase for me. This you can send by mail, as the postage in this country is merely nominal. Whatever you send, direct to me, viz: Rudolph F. Kelker, Harrisburg, Dauphin county, Pa. You desire to know whether any of the brothers of my grandfather Anthony left issue. The only brother leaving issue was Rudolph. His decendants are scattered over the western States. They are worthy citizens, so far as I can learn. Of the "Haab" family, I have never learned anything. If you can get a printed copy or account of the Fifth Centennial Jubilee of the Annexation of Zurich to the Swiss Confederacy, I would be glad to receive it. This you might, if you see proper, send by mail. Being entirely unacquainted with the cost of books or periodicals in Switzerland, I know not whether the enclosed amount will cover the expense of the items mentioned in this letter. You will therefore purchase according to the means I send, taking care to reserve sufficient to cover any expenses incurred on your side of the Atlantic. Please let me hear from you at your earliest convenience. We have packets (I mean steampackets) leaving and arriving at New York almost weekly for and from Havre. This letter I shall send by the steamship Franklin, which sails from New York, July 26, 1851, and I should be glad if you would immediately acknowledge the receipt of it and of the draft, so that I could inform the Philadelphia house of its payment. Your reply might also come by Havre. Whatever package you might send of books, &c., might come in this way, if you should think or find on inquiry that it would be more expeditious than to send by way of Leipsig.

With many wishes and prayers that our Heavenly father may bless you with a long and happy life in this world and eternal life in Heaven,

I remain, with much esteem, your obliged servant,

RUDOLPH F. KELKER.

MRS. RUDOLPH F. KELKER.

Mrs. RUDOLPH F. KELKER, nee Mary Anne Reily, daughter of William Reily and Sakma (Valentine) his wife, was born in Myerstown, Lebanon County, Pennsylvania, September 30, 1820. At the earnest request of Doctor Luther Reily, her parents consented that she might come to Harrisburg, and become a member of the Doctor's family. She was then only about eight years of age. She remained in Doctor Reily's family until her marriage to Rudolph F. Kelker. While there she was sent to school with her cousins Elizabeth and Emily Reily, and soon took her part in the domestic work of the family. She assisted the Doctor in the preparation of medicines and tinctures, kept his shop in order, and as early as twelve years of age, carried the basket containing the medicines prescribed and prepared by her uncle, to the homes of his numerous patients through the town. She would apply plasters and dress blisters with the skill of an adult nurse. She might often be seen on the streets in winter's storms of snow and sleet, as well as in the heat of summer, on her mission of mercy. She was early sent to the Reformed Sabbath School, in Chestnut Street, in which she continued as scholar, teacher and active worker until her marriage. From her earliest years she took an active part in the Ladies' Sewing Circle, and as a member of the Church Choir. She was confirmed a member of the Church on the nineteenth of May, 1839, by Rev. John H. Smaltz, then Pastor of the Church. On the seventeenth of June, 1844, she was married to Rudolph F. Kelker, by Rev. John F. Mesick, their then Pastor, at the residence of Doctor Luther Reily, east corner of Second street and Cherry avenue. The wedding took place early on Monday morning, and after breakfast the bride and groom left Harrisburg in the nine o'clock train for Chambersburg, enroute to Frederick City, Maryland, where R. F. Kelker, as a member of the Board of Domestic Missions, was to attend a meeting of the same. At Chambersburg we took the cars, (drawn by horses), for Hagerstown, where we arrived the same evening, and lodged at Fowler's Hotel. Before retiring we established our family altar with reading the 103d Psalm and prayer, which altar was never taken down or neglected while we lived together, and since my beloved wife's departure it has been just as regularly maintained. On the morning of the eighteenth we left Hagerstown, and arrived early in the afternoon at Frederick City, and stopped at Zimmermann's (formerly Dorsey's) Hotel. After attending the sessions of the Mission Board, we left Frederick City on the morning of the twentieth, for Baltimore, where we stopped at Beam's Merchants' Hotel, in Charles street, below Market. In the afternoon of the twenty-second we went over to Philadelphia, and took lodging at widow Parker's, in Arch street, opposite the Friends' Meeting House. On the twenty-ninth we returned to Harrisburg, by way of Reading, and stopped with the family of Doctor Reily. On the thirtieth, we took communion together for the first time, as husband and wife, with my parents and the family of Doctor Reily, in the Salem Reformed Church. On the eighth of July, 1844, we began housekeeping in the small frame house, then No. 13, now No. 111 Chestnut street, where we continued to reside until March 15, 1845, when we removed to No. 6, North Second street, (Market square). At the request of my father, Frederick Kelker, who departed this life July 12, 1857, I built a new house in 1858, on the site of the Old Homestead, and moved into the same on the seventh of September, 1858. Here the Lord graciously allowed us to live together until the twenty-seventh of August, 1890, on which date my beloved wife fell asleep in Jesus, after an illness of about ten months, of nervous prostration, although confined to her bed only on the last few days of her life. She took her bed a little before noon on Saturday, August 23d. On Monday, the 25th, she came down stairs, and after going to the front door of our home and looking around a short time, again returned to her couch, where she remained until Wednesday, 27th. About 5 o'clock, P. M., she experienced a slight chill, when she suddenly became unconscious, and sweetly passed away at 6:42, P. M., August 27th, without a struggle or a sigh. The funeral exercises were held at our home, on Saturday afternoon, August 30th, at 3:30, P. M. These were conducted by her Pastor, Rev. Ellis N. Kremer, assisted by Rev. Geo. W. Snyder, Pastor of Second Reformed Church, Harrisburg, Rev. B. Bausman, D. D., Pastor of St. Paul's Reformed Church, Reading, Pa., and Rev. A. R. Bartholomew, Pastor of Trinity Reformed Church, Pottsville, Pa. Among the large number of friends in attendance, were two Chinamen, whom she had befriended, and who reverently stood during the whole of the exercises, and joined in the funeral cortege to the grave. The Pall Bearers were J. Z. Gerhard, M. D. and David L. Fortna, Elders of Salem Reformed Church; James B. Montgomery and Lewis O. Phillips, members of Salem Bible Class, (taught by R. F. Kelker), and Jacob C. Bomberger and Gilbert M. McCauley, both intimate friends of our family. The undertaker was Joseph J. Ogelsby. Her precious remains were deposited in the family burial lot in the Harrisburg Cemetery. The funeral arrangements at the house were under the care of Mrs. Mary Ream and of Miss Ida E. Marshall, an intimate friend.

No panegyric of words can do full justice to the memory of Mrs. Kelker. Following in the footsteps of her Redeemer and imbued with His spirit, she lived, not for herself, but for others. In her home she was a model wife and mother, anticipating every want and eagerly ministering to the comfort of each member of the household. During her entire life she was active in every department of Church work in the congregation, and also took great interest in Foreign Missions. It gave her great pleasure to assist outgoing missionaries in securing their proper outfit, and giving them the benefit of her motherly advice and counsel. In the girls school in Sendai, Japan, there is a collection of religious books bearing the name of the "Mary A. Kelker Memorial Library," founded in her memory, over which is suspended a large and life-like portrait of herself. She was remarkable also for acts of kindness and charity among the poor and destitute, freely giving time and means and often risking health in their behalf. Her whole life was a life of service. She served her God by serving others. The poor, the afflicted, the homeless, the fallen, the sorrowing, whether rich or poor, were all alike the objects of her unwearied care. She sought not the applause or notice of the world, but on the other hand, shrunk from public recognition. For many years and to the end of her life, as one of the managers of the Harrisburg Home for the Friendless, she was most assiduous in her labors for the comfort of the inmates.

During the Civil War, 1861 to 1865, she was constant in services among the sick and wounded in the Military Hospitals established at Camp Curtin and in the Lecture Room of the Salem Reformed Church, in Chestnut street, as well as in feeding the starving refugees who, fleeing from the south, passed through Harrisburg, in great numbers.

"And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth, yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them."

“Lord Thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations!”

So may we not depart from Thee, but be covert of Thy wings, and may Thy blessing with and addeth no sorrow therewith, be our everlasting, through Jcsuſ Christ our Lord, to whom with Thee, O Father and the Holy Spirit, be all the praise, world without end. Amen.
